

Macgregor Primary School

providing the best opportunities for success.

Macgregor Primary School's approach to renovation and refurbishment went far beyond construction and new furniture. It was about bringing the school's vision for student success to life.

"It could not have been better timing" says Lana Read, who took up the reins as Macgregor's Principal just as the rapidly expanding school was about to embark on a major construction project.

Coming on board at the design phase allowed her to align the school's pedagogy with its vision and strategy for the future - to encourage student group collaboration. This would require not only an environment to support this, but the teachers to adapt to a new team-teaching model.

"as teachers we are not just there to facilitate, but we have been enabled as activators in the classroom."
